"Libraries always remind me that there are good things in this world."

Lauren Ward

It is with great pleasure that I extend my warm greetings to the readers, contributors, and the entire academic fraternity on the release of the 3rd edition of Library Echoes.

The consistent publication of this newsletter is a testament to the vibrant intellectual culture nurtured at CCT, Landran. Each edition marks a meaningful step forward in our journey to promote reading, research, and the thoughtful exchange of ideas. Reaching the third edition reflects not only continuity but also the growing enthusiasm and engagement of our students and faculty with the library as a center of knowledge and innovation. In today's rapidly evolving academic landscape, where information is both abundant and dynamic, the role of the library has expanded beyond traditional boundaries. It now serves as a hub that integrates print and digital resources, encourages inquiry-based learning, and supports interdisciplinary exploration. Library Echoes captures this evolution by highlighting initiatives, resources, achievements, and creative expressions from across our institution.

I sincerely appreciate the dedicated efforts of the library team in curating this edition, as well as the contributors whose insights and creativity enrich its content. I encourage our students and faculty to continue making the most of the library's resources and to actively contribute to future editions of Library Echoes. Let this newsletter continue to serve as a platform that inspires learning, innovation, and the sharing of knowledge.

Wishing this 3rd edition great success and all readers an engaging and enlightening experience.

MESSAGE

It gives me great pleasure to present the 3rd edition of Library Echoes, the library newsletter of Chandigarh College of Technology, Landran.

The journey of bringing out successive editions of this newsletter has been both rewarding and inspiring. With each edition, we have witnessed growing participation and enthusiasm from our students and faculty, reaffirming the library's role as a vibrant center for knowledge sharing, creativity, and academic engagement. This edition of Library Echoes reflects the diverse activities and developments within the library, including new acquisitions, reader engagement programs, and scholarly contributions from our academic community. It also serves as a platform to showcase the literary and creative talents of our students and staff.

I extend my sincere gratitude to all contributors for their valuable submissions and to the library team for their dedication and hard work in compiling this newsletter. Their efforts ensure that Library Echoes continues to grow in quality and relevance. I encourage all readers to make full use of the library's resources and services, and to actively participate in our initiatives. Your suggestions and contributions are always welcome as we strive to enhance our services and strengthen the culture of reading and research on our campus.

Wishing you an engaging and enriching reading experience.
